Harmonic

A CLASSICAL CLUB

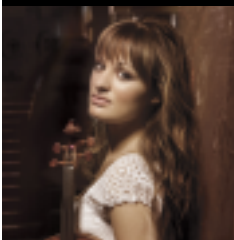

The Arts Club | 40 Dover Street | Mayfair | London W1S 4NP

Five minutes walk from Green Park tube station

Tuesday 2nd December 7pm - Midnight

Harmonic is a club evening dedicated to the best in classical music presented in a casual and unpretentious manner. Make merry in the large oak pannelled bar, enjoy first class food, and experience live music in a beautiful period performance space, all in the heart of Mayfair.

December's club night features two outstanding performances. Cellist Leonard Elschenbroich will perform Debussy and Prokofiev sonatas followed by a new piano trio featuring 2008 Classical Brit winner Nicola Benedetti on violin, Leonard Elschenbroich on cello and Alexei Grynyuk on piano performing the Tchaikovsky Trio. As always there will be a DJ spinning classical classics in the oak paneled bar area.

Nicola Benedetti

Named BBC Young Musician of the Year in 2004, violinist Nicola Benedetti has captivated audiences with her performances across the globe. Leading The Independent to say of her, "Benedetti has the gift of communication in spades; an ability to make the music seem larger than life by sheer eagerness of musical personality." An exclusive Universal/Deutsche Grammophon artist Nicola is the fastest selling solo classical artist in the UK and in April this year won Best Classical Performer at the 2008 Classical Brit Awards

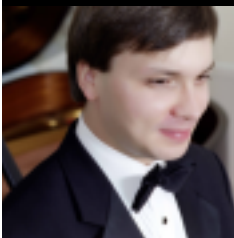

'Benedetti's performance reveals that she loves this music every bit as much as she loves Vaughan Williams The Lark Ascending, which she plays with similar open-hearted warmth and rapt concentration - as well as superb technical control...outstanding' BBC Music Magazine

Leonard Elschenbroich

Leonard Elschenbroich has recently caught the attention of today's greatest international conductors and performers. His debut recording, featuring works by Alfred Schnittke, will be released by Naxos this year. Recently he appeared as a soloist with the Kremerata Baltica, the Bremen Philharmonic and the Belarus National Philharmonic in the Concertgebouw. Leonard has received numerous honorary awards; from the Verbier Festival, the Pro Europa Society and the Kronberg Academy, and he receives intensive support from the Anne-Sophie Mutter Foundation as their only cellist.

"Depth, expressivity, charisma, perfection. His playing is the ideal every artist searches for."

Alexei Grynyuk

Ukrainian pianist Alexei Grynyuk studied at the Kiev Conservatoire before winning a scholarship to the Royal Academy of Music where he studied with Hamish Milne. Notable competition successes include the first prize at the Dyagilev Competition in Moscow, the Vladimir Horowitz Competition in Kiev and the Shanghai Piano Competition in China.

Alexei Grynyuk's increasingly international career has included recital appearances at Wigmore Hall & South Bank Centre in London, Salle Cortot & Salle Gaveau in Paris and the Great Hall of Moscow Conservatoire, as well as in Japan, South Korea and Morocco.

"...sublime playing. Breathtaking performance... it seemed a young Horowitz was reborn."
